

Green Scene is an award-winning gardening magazine that is published bimonthly by the Pennsylvania Horticultural Society (PHS), a nonprofit serving the Mid-Atlantic region. PHS produces the world-famous Philadelphia International Flower Show, an event attended by more than a quarter-million people each year.

Published primarily for PHS members, Green Scene is also on sale at several garden retail outlets, including Longwood Gardens and Meadowbrook Farm. The magazine features stories on horticulture, greening, and ways to improve one's life through gardening. Feature articles highlight such topics as:

- Rare and beautiful plants that thrive in the Mid-Atlantic region
- Clever techniques for garden care
- Garden history and travel (both local and international)
- Garden art, crafts, and structures
- Issues related to urban gardening and greening
- Intimate looks at luxurious properties
- Indoor gardening and flower arranging
